

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please delete the paragraph starting on page 10, line 16 and ending on line 24, and replace with the following paragraph (mark-ups included):

“An example of the various operating states is given hereafter. In the open position, the handset is fully available to make or answer a call. In the second closed position (folded outwards) the display is visible, and the phone is in standby awaiting incoming calls. The display may additionally be ~~sued~~ used in the normal way to identify incoming calls, and use passive features of the phone such as the clock. The keypad is preferably deactivated, to prevent accidental activation. In the first closed position, the handset is switched off, and the display and all surface components are protected.”
